

AMITAVO BHATTACHARYYA

DEFINING LEADERSHIP IN HEALTHCARE

The role of others, apart from Doctors & Nurses, in setting the standards and spreading the word around about the quality of a Hospital, is hardly recognized. The role of people like Amitavo Bhattacharyya who has come full circle by building every constituent of the industry into a responsible contributor is indeed an eye opener.

Amitavo Bhattacharyya has worked his way up the rungs. Starting his career as a Pharma Sales Executive, he has walked the street, pitched products to doctors and pushed the sales through the channels. Working with some of the best Pharma companies, he cut his teeth understanding the business of healthcare at the bottom of the pyramid, where the end consumer is. Proving his mettle at each of his assignments, he grew into roles that brought him closer to hospitals, the industry that is enjoying his passionate efforts and expertise.

A B. Pharm graduate from Nagpur University, Amitavo had the right credentials for the healthcare industry. He went ahead to strengthen it further with an MBA (Hospital Administration) from Academy of Hospital Administration (AHA). This was further reinforced with a Lean 6 Sigma Green belt certification in due course. Learning has been an integral and a constant part of his evolution. He is a trailblazer when it comes to adopt and adapt the latest digital technologies, deploying them to the betterment of the patients, doctors and the hospitals. Whether it is the deployment of something as mundane as Social Media handles or something upcoming like AI or applications like Chat GPT, Amitavo has already mastered its application for his industry. Consistently staying ahead of the curve, is the secret of his contemporary status.

Starting off with the Institute of Human Reproduction (IHR), Kolkata, Amitavo's career took him to different hospitals in diverse geographies offering varied treatments. He has worked for the Grecian Super Specialty Hospital in Punjab, Fortis Hospitals at Kolkata and then the Center for Sight Eye Hospitals (CFS) at Delhi. He has the unique experience of working in multiple states across India, Bangladesh and Bhutan, understanding each territory and its people, while building a strong network that has stood by him since then.

With nearly 20 years of experience across the Hospital industry, Amitavo's metamorphosis into a strategist & achiever with excellence in end-to-end Healthcare Marketing, Strategic Hospital Operations, Profit Centre Operations, Business Development with focus on Hospital's profitability is indeed stupendous.

With an enviable track record of effectively spearheading all aspects of Strategic Sales & Marketing & Business Expansion, he was an ideal candidate for Labaid Cancer Hospital & Super-Specialty Centre at Dhaka, when they were launching. Joining them as the

➤ Amitavo Bhattacharyya

Head of Marketing, Amitavo spearheaded their growth from scratch, curating strategic partnerships that helped grow the hospital's visibility in both the online and offline world. Promoted as the Head of Business at Labaid Cancer Hospital within a year of joining, Amitavo accelerated the Hospital's transformation as a Centre of Excellence, setting the quest for perfection as a permanent goal in all the spheres of his involvement.

Amitavo leveraged his skills to recruit the best of clinical talent in Bangladesh & also from India, while managing Hospital operations and resources effectively, cementing the hospitals reputation for its high standards. His novel brand plan and innovative marketing strategies have strengthened its brand recall, enhancing its Referral/ Corporate and Insurance Business. Actively involving himself in Marketing, Branding and Communication Strategy, he initiated Workshops Camps, Patient Education Program and LifeStyle Management Program. Fostering and maintaining corporate tie-ups and enhancing footfalls for the hospital, he has spearheaded a professional approach that is focussed on the Top line & EBIDTA achievement & P&L management for the Labaid Cancer Hospital & Super- Specialty Centre.

Handling Corporate Business, PR & Communications, Sales & Marketing, Branding & Digital, Doctor sourcing and Collaborations & Growth Strategy, Amitavo has been instrumental in spreading awareness of a World Class Healthcare institution in Bangladesh. He has stitched up international collaborations with the likes of SingHealth and RGCI. The Labaid Cancer Hospital & Super Specialty Centre has grand plans to extend its services across borders.

While it bears the stamp of Amitavo's total involvement, it also highlights his unique nature, that of a student and a master rolled into one. With a curious mind, he grasps new trends instantly and successfully turns them into a healthcare solution like a master.

That we say, is the mark of a True Leader!

