

Rajiv Gandhi University

Arunachal Pradesh, India

Evolution of the University:

Late Smt. Indira Gandhi, the then Prime Minister of India laid the foundation stone of the university on 4th February, 1984 at Rono Hills, where the present campus is located. Known as Arunachal University then, it began with only three Departments having 9 faculty members. The university functioned from a humble single academic building block with a total of 18 students only, all male students, and 77.8% of them were of tribal origin.

The University attained the status of a Central University and was renamed as Rajiv Gandhi University by an act of Parliament titled as "The Rajiv Gandhi University Act, 2006" No.8 of 2007.
