

BUILDING INDIA

Infrastructure has a massive multiplier effect on any country. The money spent may seem massive, but it has a far-reaching impact on the economy and the lives of people, while it ensures that nothing is ever far away. Ambition for growth is never attainable if the basics are not right. As India enters the phase when infrastructure outlays will only increase, its benefits will be manifold. We are seeing history in the making in every part of the country and there are many reasons to be proud of.

COMPILED BY BANDEEP SINGH
TEXT BY KRISHNA GOPALAN

THE DEVELOPMENT HIGHWAY A view of NH348 near Mumbai. Big nations have seen their economic progress take off with good roads. Be it the US or many parts of Europe or more recently China, trade gets a significant boost once road connectivity improves. India is on the same path

PHOTO BY GETTY IMAGES

