

ENTRAS

YS WHO OF INDIAN BOURSES THEIR WISDOM BY TEAM BT

Udayan Mukherjee, Global Business Editor, BT; Ashishkumar Chauhan, MD & CEO, True Beacon; Nikhil Kamath, Co-founder, Zerodha; and Raamdeo Agrawal, Chairman & Co-founder, Motilal Oswal Financial Services

(Clockwise from top) Udayan Mukherjee with Nikhil Kamath, Co-founder, Zerodha; and Co-founder, True Beacon

Raamdeo Agrawal, Chairman & Co-founder, Motilal Oswal Financial Services

Shankar Sharma, Founder, GQuant Investech

CHASING ALPHA IN A VUCA WORLD

» Stock prices in the past five to seven years have become absolutely absurd. Fund managers were sitting on my head to get Zomato stock, which I regret in hindsight (Agrawal)

» Most coveted blue-chip stocks of the next one to two years will be public sector banks because the credit cycle is rising and PSBs can report up to ₹1 lakh crore profit by 2025

» It is quite hard for active funds to outperform passive funds. Active funding will outperform passive funding in the next two to three years, but not long-term

» Meta looks more attractive than most Indian tech stories because they are spending a lot on research

» Small-caps will make money because the days of HDFC Bank and Asian Paints making money for investors are over

» Adani stocks couldn't be held by funds, because no fund manager will be able to justify it if the stocks fell

Financial Technology Partner

heckyl

Fashion Partner

gabbana
by Astar

Energy Partner

BE ONE
DAILY ENERGY & IMMUNITY CAPSULES

Digital Media Partner

dailyhunt