

TIME TO FEED

Worried about feeding your pet when you're away? This smart feeder can serve a meal at just the right time. It can be controlled using a mobile app where you can feed data such as schedule and portion size. Making it super convenient to use are features such as low food alert indicator and anti-jam technology with auto-reverse to prevent food blockage. Most importantly, it supports dual AA batteries that powers the device during a power outage.

Your pup will never feel bored—even when you're away—once you train it to use this device

GO FETCH!

Pups love playing fetch, but if you're low on energy, get this gadget to take your place. Place it on the floor, and once its miniature tennis ball is dropped in the top opening, the device automatically shoots the ball to a distance of 10, 20 and 30 feet—adjustable at the touch of a button. Train your dog to drop the ball in the top opening, and your pet will never have a dull moment. Pick it up the next time you're in the US.

PETKIT PURA MAX

$569.9 (plus shipping fee of $550)

Take the pain out of managing a cat's litter with this device

If you have a cat, taking care of its litter is a chore. This automatic litter box—designed for cats older than six months and weighing 1.5-8 kg—puts an end to the hassle. It comes with a 76-litre cylinder and uses multiple sensors to identify when the cat enters the box, is done littering and steps out. Paired with the app, you can also track your cat's activity.
