

HELPING HAND

To stabilise the falling rupee, the RBI on July 6 announced measures, including increasing the overseas borrowing limit for companies. It also eased norms for foreign investments in government bonds to increase foreign exchange inflows into the country. The rupee has tanked 6.78 per cent year-to-date to the 79.45-mark against the US dollar till July 12, while forex reserves declined $45 billion to $588.31 billion in 2022 till July 1.

GREEN JOBS ARE HEATING UP

The climate emergency and the clean energy revolution across the globe have resulted in an increasing demand for green jobs by up to 31 per cent in May 2022. Hospitality, travel and auto are some new sectors that have embarked on their journey towards green. Other than traditional green industries such as EV and renewable energy, segments such as construction, engineering, manufacturing, food farming and packaging have also witnessed tremendous demand for green job roles.

ATTRITION TROUBLES

Tata Consultancy Services, the country's largest software exporter, saw its attrition soaring to a record high of 19.7 per cent at the end of June from 17.4 per cent three months ago. As a result, higher salary hikes and increased lateral hiring are affecting its operating margin. The Rajesh Gopinathan-led information technology major—which is a part of the Tata group—however, sees attrition cooling off from the second half of 2022, something most IT majors expect will happen.

The EV Value Game

HOME-GROWN AUTOMAKER Mahindra and Mahindra (M&M), which plans to launch its first electric SUV by September, recently raised $250 million from the UK government's British International Investment for its new EV unit, at a valuation of $9.1 billion. Rival Tata Motors' EV business, too, was valued at $9.1 billion when it raised $1 billion from TPG Rise Climate in October 2021. According to dealers' body FADA, Tata Motors sold 15,200 e-cars while M&M sold just 156 in FY22. With five new launches planned by March 2026, M&M is now aiming high.

TOPPLING TURNOVER

The ongoing volatility is hitting investor participation in the stock markets. In June, when the benchmark Sensex fell nearly 4.6 per cent—the third straight monthly fall—the BSE saw the total number of shares traded (89 million) and the number of trades (53 million) fall to their lowest since April 2021. On the NSE, the volumes were at their lowest since February 2020. Tough times ahead?
