

Overpopulation is one of the major concerns for India amid the limited supply of resources. The latest projections by the UN show that India will overtake China as the most populous country next year. Higher demand for products may lead to greater disparity in the country in terms of job security, forex reserves, trade balance and GDP, among other concerns. Here's how the broader picture looks for India

263
MILLION

The number of people India may add to its population between 2021 and 2050

183
MILLION

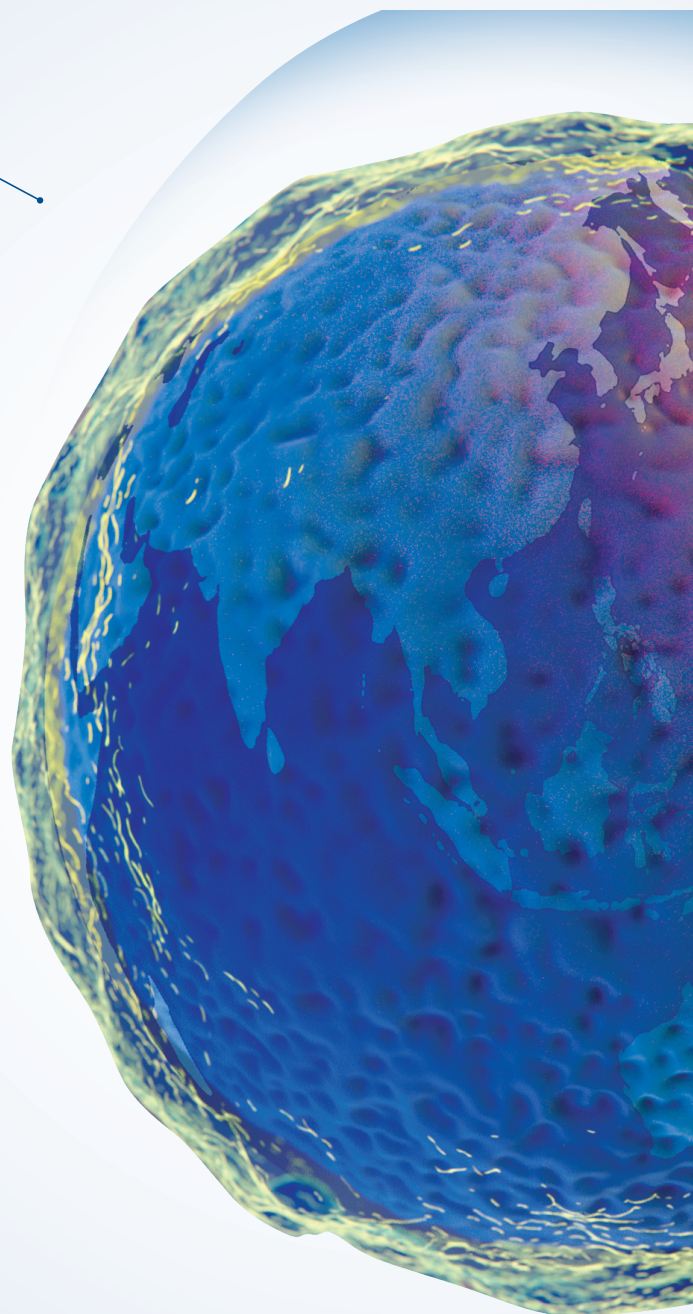

The number of people likely to join the working age group of 15-64 years in India between 2020 and 2050

22
PER CENT

The percentage of the incremental global workforce that will come from India over the next three decades

8
BILLION

The likely population of the world by November 15, 2022, as per UN estimates

Projections by CMIE Economic Outlook; #UN's low projection for India's population is 1,002 million in 2100*

Source: United Nations World Population Prospects 2022 report; CMIE Economic Outlook