

► The new-age financial services start-ups are well stocked with capital and group entities' support

► The segment's players are eyeing inorganic growth routes, as well as scouting for distressed portfolios

► They are riding piggyback on their group's customer base, especially suppliers and dealers

► They are also targeting earlier untapped smaller geographies

► Their low-cost operating model, using technology and fintech partnerships, is proving advantageous

► They are targeting new product segments like used cars, loans to professionals, and micro loans for growth

NEW KIDS ON THE BLOCK

BIG NAMES LIKE THE POONAWALLAS, PIRAMALS, AND GODREJS ARE MAKING AN AMBITIOUS PLAY IN INDIA'S RETAIL CREDIT SPACE, USING ORGANIC AS WELL AS INORGANIC ROUTES. BUT EXECUTING THEIR PLANS IN THE FRAGMENTED SEGMENT WILL BE A CHALLENGE
