

THE HONCHO'S KIT

If you hold one of those corner offices, here are some powerful gadgets to grab and make a statement worthy of your position BY NIDHI SINGAL

APPLE OF THE EYE

With so many deadlines to meet, regular monitors often fall short on screen estate. Investing in this 34-inch curved monitor can enhance productivity by providing you with an immersive and wide field of view for multitasking. Housing two Thunderbolt 3 ports, it can be easily connected to compatible Macs and PCs. Transmitting video and data at speeds of up to 40 Gbps, it can simultaneously charge devices (up to 85W), over a single cable. And hey, these are quite pleasant to look at.

It's a Pro!

Although designed for creative professionals, this Apple product is also a perfect business laptop. Not only does it look great, it also is a powerhouse with great all-workday battery backup. Powered by Apple's new silicon (M1 Pro), the machine can handle just about anything in computing—be it number crunching or high-resolution creatives. The 14.2-inch Liquid Retina XDR display with 3024x1964 is vibrant with true-to-life colours and with its 1080p camera, you can say goodbye to those grainy video calls. This MacBook Pro does away with connectivity constraints as it comes with an HDMI port and 3 Type-C Thunderbolt ports. The device can also transfer data up to 40 Gbps and comes with built-in protection against malware and viruses.
