

2000

Launches 1.2-litre Bada Bisleri

2011

Bisleri launches its Club Soda

2019

Angelo George named Bisleri CEO, the first professional to hold the post

2006

● Bisleri launches Natural Mountain Mineral Water from the Himalayas

● Changes its packaging from blue to green, disrupting market norm

2012

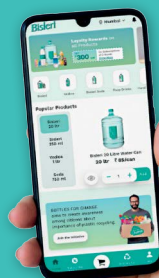

Bisleri mountain water relaunched as Vedica

2018

Bisleri opens vertical manufacturing plant in Mumbai

2020

Firm takes D2C route after the pandemic

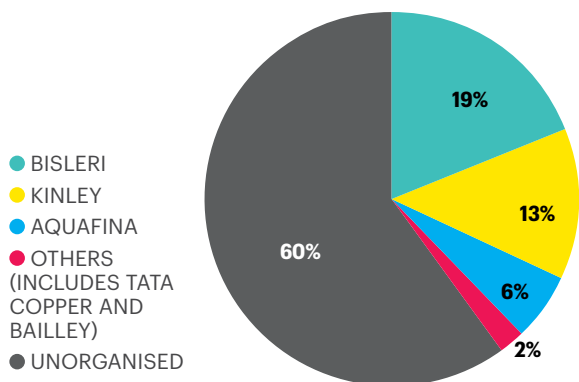

2023

Bisleri re-enters the soft drinks space and is looking to increase non-water revenue from 7-8 per cent to 15 per cent

| 75

LEADING THE PACK

- 1 THE ORGANISED WATER SEGMENT IS PROJECTED AT ₹8,000 CRORE
- 2 BISLERI IS THE BIGGEST PLAYER HERE WITH A 19 PER CENT MARKET SHARE

NOTE THE UNORGANISED SEGMENT IS ESTIMATED TO BE ₹12,000 CRORE. INDIA HAS OVER 6,000 BRANDS AND AROUND 7,000 MANUFACTURING PLANTS says. Her background in product development helped and there were innovations like a refractive label.
SOURCE INDUSTRY

GOING SOFT AND GROWING

Cut to the soft drinks piece, which is dominated by the two multinationals, Coca-Cola and PepsiCo. According to industry insiders quoting Nielsen numbers, the soft drinks space is a ₹50,000-crore market.

And this isn't Bisleri's first foray here in recent times—in fact, the last couple of attempts did not work. In 2016, the company launched Bisleri Pop with four variants—Limonata, Spyci, Pina Colada and Fonzo—but had to exit with no success to speak of. A return with Fonzo as a mango-flavoured drink a couple of years later was again a disappointment.

Those hard lessons could come in handy here. "When servicing the millions of retail outlets with their branded offerings, it is critical for them to also have packaged drinking water in their portfolio. It helps in offering the complete package to the trade and allows them to sell it through the year unlike soft drinks," says Narayanan.

Chauhan says the firm took a fresh look at the market between 2019 and 2020. "Yes, we did not get it right