

A G3 OF US, CHINA AND INDIA SOON

Rahul Kanwal (left) with

Børge Brende, President, World Economic Forum

Børge Brende said a digitally connected workforce was necessary to capitalise on India's demographic dividend

He said that sustaining an 8 per cent growth rate hinges on India's commitment to enacting consistent reforms year after year

Brende lauded the country for being the fastest-growing economy for three consecutive years

He predicted a shifting global landscape, where the US, China, and India will wield significant influence as the G3

