► Did you know that NBA great Michael Jordan is in some way connected with a bulk of the most expensive sneakers ever sold? Either these are kicks worn by the basketball star or they belong to the iconic Air Jordan line. And when luxury fashion house Dior collaborates for an Air Jordan line, getting these made-in-Italy kicks is a no-brainer. These limited-edition low-top sneakers, made from wolf grey and sail white leather, feature the classic Jordan 1 design. But what sets this pair apart from other Jordans are the grey Dior monogram pattern within the Nike swoosh and the Air Dior wings on the back of the heel. They're difficult to lay your hands on, but you might just get lucky online.
