

CARTIER'S MÉTIERS D'ART CRASH TIGRÉE MÉTAMORPHOSES

WHERE TO ENQUIRE www.cartier.com
PRICE ON REQUEST

► The Cartier Crash is remarkable in its peculiarity. Launched in 1967—as a means to adapt the classic Cartier oval watch into something that would appeal to the rebellious attitude of the swinging sixties—the Crash is bent and curved like it has been melted under extreme heat. The latest Crash from Cartier has the most ostentatious look in recent memory. The Cartier's 'Métiers d'art Crash Tigrée Métamorphoses' is an exquisite display of Cartier's favourite things—animal references and weirdly shaped cases—wrapped up in luxurious gold enamel that melts into different shades of blue and green, with loads of diamonds. A limited edition series of 50 pieces.

78 |

PANERAI LUMINOR BITEMPO

WHERE TO BUY PANERAI SHOWROOMS
PRICE ON REQUEST

► Proud of its Italian heritage and experience of crafting instruments for navy divers, Panerai has launched the Luminor BiTempo, which through its GMT feature, can track time in two different time zones. The new watch is available in two different colour schemes—blue and black. The self-winding automatic watch is ensconced in a 44-mm brushed-steel case with a transparent sapphire crystal back that showcases the precise movement of its time-keeping mechanics.