

NOMA, COPENHAGEN

PRICE $400 PER PERSON

► This three-Michelin star restaurant is one of the most coveted restaurants on the planet. Noma and its founder, Chef René Redzepi, are known for creating new Nordic cuisines and inspiring an entire generation of chefs the world over. After having won the World's Best Restaurant award for several years in a row, it is no longer eligible for the award. The restaurant offers three menus at different times of the year—seafood from January to June, vegetable-focussed dishes during the summer, and game (think reindeer) in the winter. “The test kitchen is one of the most advanced in the world and offers a tasting menu of creative, complex dishes with vivid natural flavours. Professional, informal service puts guests at ease. Book well in advance,” says the Michelin Guide.
