HERE IS SOMETHING extremely charming about vintage cars. Whether it is the sleek curves of a roadster, the roar of a classic engine or the details of a meticulously restored dashboard, there is no denying the allure of these automotive treasures. The desire for vintage cars and the ever-growing community of individuals who are captivated by the nostalgia and love for these has led to them becoming great investment vehicles too. Consider this: As per the Knight Frank Luxury Investment Index, the asset value of classic cars appreciated by 25 per cent
