

Meal delivery services are all the rage in the West and are quickly gaining traction in India too

Gurugram, Mumbai, Surat and Hyderabad. You can sign up for anything from a Power Breakfast Plan to a Homestyle Dinner or Fruit Snack Plan. You can order an individual meal or subscribe to a monthly package. “It’s like your office dabbawala, just healthier and with more variety,” says Acharya.

There are several healthy meal delivery subscription services, especially in the metros. These cater to individuals as well as families. At Delhi-based Parafit, you select your goal—weight loss, muscle gain, weight maintenance or detox diet and then subscribe to your package. For instance, a three-day trial package for detox, including three meals a day, costs ₹2,490. These will include dishes such as grilled cottage cheese and quinoa salad, grilled vegetable sandwiches and vegetable stroganoff with rice on day one, followed by yoghurt bowl, hummus with grilled pita, achari soya chaap, etc., on day two. In case you are confused about your health goals, you can speak to a nutritionist and have a customised plan for you. The USP lies in the over 250 dishes on their menu, so that you get to eat enough variety.

Then there are lesser-known brands such as Blufit and Nutri 91 that specifically cater to those keen on a keto diet. You can start with a three-day trial and if you are satisfied, you can subscribe to it monthly. The menu is a mix of Indian, Continental, Mexican and Chinese, with over 500 recipes in their database. It’s perfect if you would like to stick to a Keto diet but crave variety. One of the pioneers in this field is HealthifyMe, which likes to consider itself a connected fitness ecosystem that helps you achieve your health goals faster and more consistently. So, besides a healthy meal subscription, you get personalised coaching for weight loss, and a metabolic dashboard with 80-plus key parameters that help you stay healthy and identify any underlying medical conditions.

Eating healthy is not difficult. All you have to do is pick up the phone. So what’s your excuse now? BT
