

house gas emissions, but are also able to act on them to help reduce carbon emissions.

Q: Have you seen any interest from Indian companies?

A: A lot! CEOs are telling us, 'Hey, I have to report my ESG in a standardised way. But today, I'm working with too many estimates. That's not enough [as] we need standardised reporting based on actuals.' And this is what our software can do. Because when you purchase your materials with SAP software, we can make sure

“I would say India is the most important market... We have big plans to hire more young talent in India. I'd ask the government to double down on education, because it's the people and their skills that will make India thrive”
