

THE GAME CHANGER

We live in a world where every person is facing financial problems; irrespective of their net household income, nature of work or family background. A big part of this problem is due to the fact that in our almost 20 years of education, we are never taught anything about managing our finances. Almost no average Indian is aware about how to create an income without engaging in a job or a business until the day they retire. Even when it comes to investments, we are not aware of what is actually good for us and our future, and are obliged to randomly invest in LIC, Mutual Fund schemes or real estate and never come across other modes of investments like Bonds, debentures etc. Engaging in share markets is treated more as gambling rather than an investment and creating a passive income through it is usually a pipe dream of the masses.

A research by AITE group shows that close to a quarter of U.S adults are retail online traders with an additional 6% who are professional traders, whereas in India, not even 1% of the whole population is engaged in share market, let alone becoming successful traders.

Hungrymind Learning PVT LTD, a research based finance company, is changing the game by constantly creating mathematical models and processes to prove how easy it is to create money magically in the 21st century. Founded by Mr. Prem Sinha in the year 2016, Hungrymind began its journey with the vision of spreading mass financial awakening around the globe which is the need of the hour to eliminate the social enigmas of unemployment, security, corruption, bad debts and scarcity of money.

While researching in the fields of finance, share market and human psychology towards money for the past 19 years, Mr. Prem Sinha and his team have designed wealth management systems and modules which grows one's money and these simple and easy to understand modules are breaking the widespread and ages-old iceberg that financial management is a rocket science - which can be understood only by the highly educated, skilled and trained brains with top notch qualifications.

The team claims that within just 6 to 9 months, any member of the family above 14 years of age, irrespective of their previous background and experience, can learn the science of financial markets and create opulence for their entire family.

People are getting educated in not only how to create money, but also in how to mindfully manage it and make sound financial decisions.

The team led by Mr. Prem Sinha is so diverse and fluid, that it consists of teenagers, dropouts, homemakers, retirees etc. with no financial backgrounds and many even without any corporate experience; where a major portion of the team consists of yesterday's homemakers who are today's professional traders and financial experts. Presently, a team of around 50 dynamic wealth managers, who have been trained and certified by Hungrymind Learning PVT LTD are managing a cumulative fund of 10 crore Rupees, growing consistently.

Mrs. Ashwini Dhumal was working as teacher in a reputed school of Pune City since 12 Years. She quit her job and now proudly learning the dimensions of financial management and at the same time crafting her own path to live her passion of teaching children.

Shivanshu Mishra a commerce graduate says "Since last 18 months working as a professional trader, now I am able to see the world differently and I feel life has become more meaningful. Whereas my college friends are still looking for better jobs. I feel a sense of responsibility to bring a financial awakening among young generations."

Mr. Prem Sinha, Founder & CEO,
Hungrymind Learning Pvt Ltd

This group is setting its own rules of the game, where the next milestone according to Mr. Prem's plans is to expand this system of financial awakening to the point where 10000 professional traders will be handling a capital of more than 25 Lakhs each, leading to a cumulative wealth of more than 2500 crore rupees.
