

TAG Heuer Carrera Plasma

Tag Heuer has added a bit of bling to its sporty Carrera chronograph. But unlike other watch brands, it has decided to go with lab-grown diamonds, which are directly incorporated in the body and dial of the watch itself. Lab-grown diamonds, besides being ecologically sound, can also be made in shapes that would otherwise be difficult. This limited-edition watch comes with a polycrystalline diamond dial, diamond indexes and a winding crown made of a single piece of lab-grown diamond.

