

ternational has also managed to enter the list at No. 437 on the back of an order book worth ₹32,486 crore in Q1FY24, up from ₹13,293 in FY15. Iacon and Jupiter were not on the BT500 list in 2022.

“The current order book for Jupiter Wagons as of FY23 stands at ₹58,200 crore, of which the order book for wagons is ₹50,000 crore. Compared to the annual revenues of ₹2,068.25 crore in FY23, this provides significant visibility for the next three years,” Vivek Lohia, MD of Jupiter Wagons, said in the company’s FY23 annual report.

Separately, commenting on the robust performance of railway companies, Sunny Agrawal, Head of Fundamental Research Desk at SBI Securities, says, “The government earmarked a capital outlay of ₹2.4 lakh crore for the railways in Union Budget 2023-24. This has led to enhanced modernisation of Indian railways infrastructure, which has aided the railway companies to deliver robust returns.”

Railway firms have performed well as orders from the Indian Railways have gathered pace in the form of Vande Bharat trains, wagons and locomotives, among others. “Over time, the government has signalled its intent to award more tenders in future for both wagons and Vande Bharat [trains],” says Suraj Prakash Nanda, Senior Investment Analyst at ICICI Prudential AMC.

CHUGGING ALONG

However, in contrast to other railway companies, the rank of Indian Railway Catering and Tourism Corporation (IRCTC) has slipped by 14 places to No. 98 in 2023. Market watchers believe that its expensive valuation and the government’s decision to sell a part of its stake in the company have contributed to
