to No. 61. Meanwhile, ACC slipped to No. 142 from No. 114, while Adani Wilmar dropped to No. 82 from No. 62. The rest of the Adani Group firms also didn't fare any better and the combined average m-cap of the group's nine firms which are part of the BT500 shrank by nearly ₹1.65 lakh crore or 11 per cent when compared to last year's study.

This assumes significance as the listed companies of the Gautam Adani-led conglomerate featured among the list of entities that had registered the biggest jump in terms of rankings in last year's list. But much has happened since then.

“WITH MANY VENTURES NOW MARKET-READY AND THRIVING, OUR H1FY24 RESULTS HAVE BEEN BOOSTED BY THE CORE INFRA INCUBATING BUSINESSES... A STRONG TESTAMENT TO OUR INCUBATING VENTURES...”
