

SCOPE FOR GROWTH

Despite having the highest number of users, India ranks quite low in terms of revenue for WhatsApp

Brazil is the biggest contributor to WhatsApp in term of revenue globally

COUNTRIES WITH THE HIGHEST WHATSAPP BUSINESS APP REVENUE ; DATA FOR 2022

SOURCE: APPMAGIC

64 |

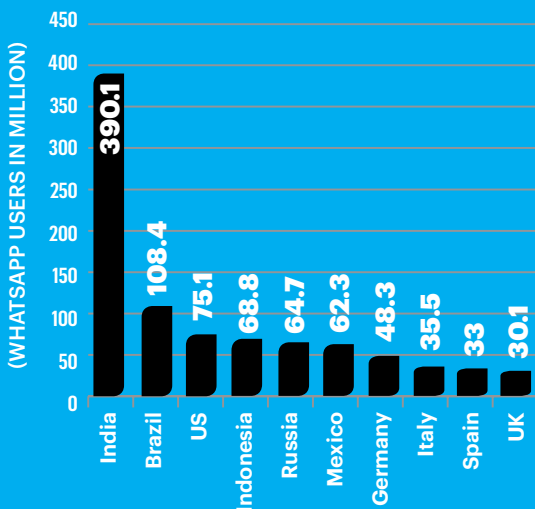

GROWING USER BASE

India, Brazil and the US dominated WhatsApp's global user base with 573.6 million monthly active users

With around 400 million users, India is Meta's "high priority market," as per Mark Zuckerberg

DATA AS OF SEPTEMBER 30, 2023
SOURCE: BACKLINKO

N

NIKILA SRINIVASAN'S ELDERLY mother in Chennai uses WhatsApp to talk to her milkman. Like millions of other Indians, the messaging service is her link to various users and services, and her US-based daughter. "WhatsApp is a place where people are having their everyday conversations," says Srinivasan, Global VP of Business Messaging at Meta. One of her responsibilities is to look for ways to monetise WhatsApp.

And that is a question that has bugged the messaging service for long. In 2014, when Facebook (now Meta) Founder and CEO Mark Zuckerberg unveiled his plans to acquire WhatsApp for $19.6 billion, many called the deal overvalued. But ace investor Warren Buffett spoke favourably. "I don't understand technology, but I understand people. If Mark Zuckerberg believes in WhatsApp, that's good enough for me," the Oracle of Omaha had said.

But while Instagram—bought in 2012 for $1 bil-