

KOHINOOR GROUP: RESHAPING PUNE WITH A MAGNIFICENT VISION

You have construction companies galore. What sets one part from the other is their vision for the future and the way they achieve it. Some do build edifices. The Kohinoor Group is reshaping a region. Krishnakumar Goyal's vision is transforming the landscape of Pimpri Chinchwad, as it rises up to claim its share of limelight from Pune.

For a company that began its journey in 1983 by trading in Cement, Krishnakumar Goyal's strong visionary leadership has meant a colossal transformation for the Kohinoor Group to emerge as a front runner in Real Estate and Hospitality.

Getting into construction with a project in 1989 in Bopadi, Kohinoor Construction soon established its credentials to tie up with Kimberly Clark for a project in Pimpri-Chinchwad in 1995. From its inception, Goyal's principles ensured that the group maintained the highest standards of transparency, commitment and honesty. It also earned the reputation of delivering projects on time and in certain cases, ahead of the committed schedule. With such principles, it is not a surprise that The Kohinoor Group has come a long way from Kohinoor Classic – its real estate vertical's first ever project. The group has so far developed and delivered 8 million sq.ft. Another 6.5 million sq.ft. are under construction across Pune.

Some of the major projects of the group include a 300 row-houses project in Pimple Saudagar constructed in 2002. In the commercial segment, the group walks away with the credit of unveiling the first commercial space dedicated to women under the World of Mother project in 2001. The Tower T3 in Kohinoor World Towers in Pimpri Chinchwad has been a grand success. The Group has announced the launch of tower T2 now. The prime project is spread across 1.8 million sq-ft, including future development. Kohinoor World Towers is a commercial project that is a cut above the rest. The business centre aims to bring the headquarters of major corporations, both Indian and international, within one business house. It has several key features that set it apart from other business hubs. The project is spread across nine acres of land, encompassing its business units, entertainment areas and parking space. The business units consist of five towers, with twelve floors each. The commercial spaces are magnificent with grand entrance, lobbies, drop-off points and spacious areas for brands to place their offices.

Based on the current inventory and line-up of future projects, Kohinoor Group aims to deliver 20,000 more homes in the near future. Besides residential properties, Kohinoor also has big plans for developing more commercial spaces and student accommodation, an area it has already made a start with its Youthville. Having spotted a huge demand supply gap in the affordable housing segment, the group plans to bridge that gap with their affordable or nano housing segment. "Real estate development has been our core business since the time of our inception in 1983. Over the years, we have developed and promoted over 8 million square feet projects in the residential and commercial segments across strategic locations especially in the PCMC area in Maharashtra," states Goyal, a commerce graduate who has come a long way from his humble beginnings through sheer hard work and lofty vision when he turned an entrepreneur spurred by the challenges set by his father. Today, ably supported by his sons Vineet Goyal and Rajesh Goyal, Joint Managing Directors, the group has developed and delivered over 8 million square feet to over 6500+ happy families and is currently developing over 6.5 million square feet of residential, retail and commercial spaces. Working with the philosophy of ensuring customer happiness with the blessing "Sada Sukhi Raho", Kohinoor Group has come a long way under the leadership of its founder, chairman and managing director Krishnakumar Goyal. With some mercurial work in housing, commercial, logistic and hospitality spaces, Vineet and Rajesh are also ensuring that the original business of trading is expanding. They have also diversified into Tissue manufacturing. With such dynamic and visionary leadership across generations, the Kohinoor Group is bound to light up the skies.
